Rule Change Intent

This new rule for 2020 favors those entered for the original higher height since the lower height will now need to pay the larger fee. This is acknowledging the higher prize money along with the higher fee but it's the lower height entries that will pay more than they had planned with no option other than not competing. The proposed wording gives an option for combining classes of different heights.

JP108 Prize Money

7. Per JP 122.1.c, if classes of different heights are combined, one of the following methods must be used:

a. ~~T~~he entry fee and prize money will follow the class that has the higher prize money. The start fee must be refunded to declared competitors who choose not to declare for the combined class.

b. Both heights follow the original prize money, entry fee, and payouts for each placing according what is printed in the prize list.
